The second race was between Judge Kendal, owned by W. J. Dobbins, of Manchester, with Bass up, and Lew Dookstader, owned by Morgan Jones, with Livingstone up. The first round didn't count, as there was no official start given, but the next mile was won so handly by Kendal, that it was not thought necessary, by the judge to start the horses off again. Time, 2:32 2-5. The winners were the favorites from the start, but the losers had their friends, and considerable money in wagers passed. Meagis B and Judge Kendal, respectively, have been urged to match their nags, and it is likely that they will get together at an early date, although the race will probably be a handicap, as the time difference is nearly twenty-five seconds.

The sport was enjoyed by the large crowd, and the showing made by the pacers was favorably commented upon

E. P. Trenchery, Musician.

(By Associated Press.)

ALITON, ILL, August 17.—Emilius Pierre Trenchery, Iniety one years old, is dead at his home here.

Mr. Trenchery who was blind, was hais a century ago known as one of the foremost blind musicians and educators in America. He was a native of France, and was graduated from the great school for the blind at Paris.

He was a schoolmate of Braitto, the inventor of the system of reading by raised letters, and when he came to America he infroduced that system, in 1855 Mr. Trenchely came to Alton, where he has since resided.
